Since Russia's full-scale invasion of Ukraine in February 2022, Congress has appropriated or otherwise made available nearly $183 billion for Operation Atlantic Resolve and the broader Ukraine response. Additionally, the United States provided $20 billion in loans as part of the G7 nations extraordinary revenue acceleration loans initiative. The Special IG for OAR has collected funding data from all 14 Federal agencies that were authorized to receive funds through the Ukraine supplemental appropriation acts, including the Department of Defense (DoD), Department of State (State), and the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID).

Since February 2022, the international community has immobilized Russian assets valued at approximately $300 billion. While most of these assets are held in European financial institutions, some are held in U.S., Canadian, and Japanese financial institutions as well.
Between October 1, 2024 and December 31, 2024, the G7 nations initiated $50 billion in what's called extraordinary revenue acceleration loans to Ukraine. The loans are to be repaid by future proceeds from these immobilized assets, roughly $2.6 to $3.2 billion per year.

The U.S. has provided $20 billion as part of this initiative. The World Bank's Ukraine Financial Intermediary Fund will serve as the trustee and administrator to distribute loan contributions from the U.S. and other lenders, to Ukraine.

Other loan mechanisms:

The U.S. Government has used $1.6 billion to secure a $4.8 billion loan through World Bank's Special Program for Ukraine and Moldova Recovery and a $530 million loan through the World Bank's Economic Resilience Action Program. Ukraine used the Special Program for Ukraine and Moldova Recovery loan to fund many of the types of salaries also supported through direct budget support.

Has the United States spent $300-$350bn on Ukraine aid?
President Trump has made this claim on a number of occasions - including when he hosted France's President Macron in the White House this week.
Short answer: Figures suggest the actual spend is much lower.
BBC Verify can find no evidence to back up the claim.
There are different calculations on US spending in or related to Ukraine - and they produce a much lower figure.
The Kiel Institute is a German-based think tank tracking support going into Ukraine. It calculated that the United States spent $119.7bn (£94.3bn) on aid between January 2022 and December 2024.
It says $182.8bn has been "appropriated" - a figure that covers US military training in Europe and replenishment of US defence stocks.
Has the United States spent $200bn more than Europe?
President Trump has claimed: "We've spent more than $300bn and Europe has spent about $100bn - that's a big difference"
Short answer: Figures suggest Europe has spent more when all aid is included and, as above, we can't find any evidence for the $300bn figure.
Some of the mineral deposits, however, have been seized by Russia. According to Yulia Svyrydenko, Ukraine's economy minister, resources worth $350bn (£277bn) remain in occupied territories today.

Mr Rutte said February 2025: "In 2024, NATO Allies provided over 50 billion euros in security assistance to Ukraine – nearly 60% of this coming from Europe and Canada."

Europe has provided more support to Ukraine than the US and Europe is not demanding repayment, while the US is now demanding the entire aid back as if it were just a temporary loan. There is no evidence that it was a loan when the capital was transferred. The entire repayment to the US with the value of mineral resources is something akin to pure blackmail, of the same type that the Mafia uses in its patronage activities. They threaten consequences if you don't pay. The US threatens not to protect Ukraine and no guarantees are given. No guarantees are given that the US will not give Russia part of the blackmail money. Putin has already shown himself positive about American companies on Russian-occupied Ukrainian territory. He would never do that if he had not already received part of the booty that the US intends to squeeze out of Ukraine. Shameful action by the US.

Canadians have begun organizing efforts of their own to counteract U.S. tariffs imposed Saturday by President Donald Trump, with some heeding calls by Prime Minister Justin Trudeau, who quickly announced retaliatory levies against the U.S., to buy Canadian and boycott U.S. goods as much as possible.

Trump on Saturday announced a 25% tariff on imports from Mexico and Canada — excluding Canadian energy products, which would face a 10% tariff. He also implemented a 10% tariff on imports from China, citing the role all three countries have played in the flow of fentanyl and undocumented immigrants to the United States.

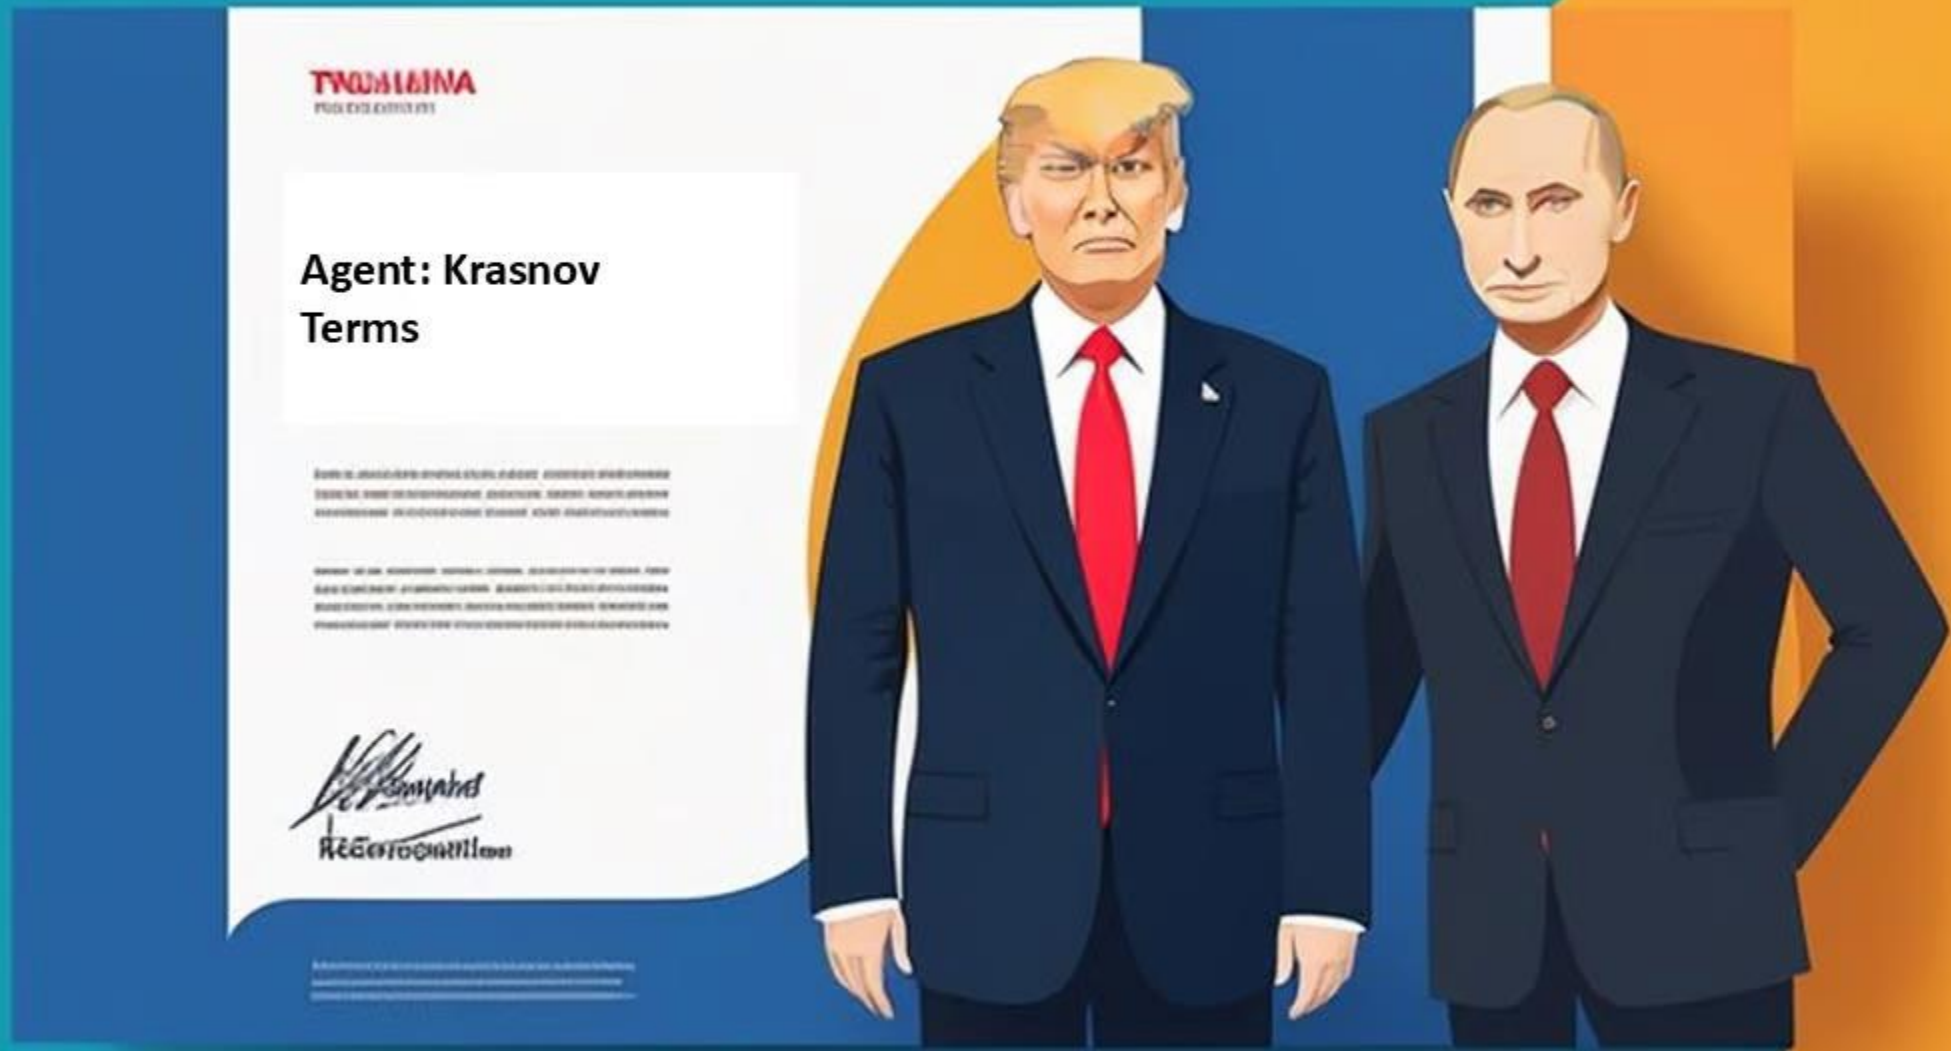
The Spy in The White House



Agent: Krasnov
Terms

Former KGB agents Alnur Mussayev and Yuri Shvets say that Trump was contacted as early as 1987 to be cultivated as an asset, i.e. a potential spy. Trump is still considered such by Russia today. This means that he is the highest-ranking Russian spy at the moment.

Trump had become the target of the KGB already during his first trip to Moscow and Russia. The KGB had analyzed his personality, as a “God complex”, “greedy”, and a perfect candidate to cultivate as a spy. The KGB made him believe in new big deals in Russia and also planted the idea that Trump should enter politics. Already in 1987, Trump was considered to be on the KGB’s list of “Assets”.

Yuri Shvets is a former KGB major and he has confirmed that the above facts are true. He adds that it was easy to dupe Trump, because he was stupid enough to go for it.

Russia's plan is to create a new USA, which is moving towards an authoritarian rule and which is increasingly crushing democratic values.

Adolf Hitler had a dream. Create a car for the people. During his time there was no success. Later it became a popular car, VW. Adolf Hitler was one of the worst criminals in world history. Elon Musk has suffered from the same kind of dream. That his right-wing extremist thoughts will take root in as many people's brains as possible. He has also produced a Tesla electric car. Hope people stop buying it asap, because who wants to support someone with similar dreams as Adolf Hitler had?

Elon Musk has missed his role in life. It is good to have development for the good of humanity. But it has never been right-wing extremist thoughts. Such are siblings of the fuel of dictatorship and they do not run on electricity, but in the Nazi extermination camps they used deadly gas. Elon Musk has already started trying to influence German politics. It is embarrassing and there is much evidence that Elon Musk has suffered from the same mental disorder called delusions of grandeur. This may explain some of why he enjoys being with a person who has the same condition. Donald Trump. Several psychologists warned back in 2015 about Donald Trump's condition and his suitability to hold the highest office in the United States. Now he is the worst-rated President the United States has ever had. He is the only one who has been convicted of a crime and yet has been elected president. He seems to escape punishment but was convicted of 34 counts that were criminal. Even Adolf Hitler surrounded himself with people he liked. Similar thoughts and the same strategies. But joint plans driven by a long-developed delusion of grandeur. Hitler cost humanity 60 million deaths. Trump had his fans contribute to some deaths when the Capitol in Washington was stormed. Hitler was involved in a coup d'état in Germany that also required deaths. He received five years in prison but escaped punishment before nine months had passed. In 1933, the German people thought Hitler was a good choice to lead Germany. More people thought Donald Trump was suitable as president in the 2024 election. Both Hitler and Trump have been criminals involved in anti-democratic actions. The people liked it in Germany in 1933 and in the USA in 2024. Different generations tend to repeat old mistakes. Apparently it has happened again in 2024.

Adolf Hitler had a dream. Create a car for the people. During his time there was no success. Later it became a popular car, VW. Adolf Hitler was one of the worst criminals in world history. Elon Musk has suffered from the same kind of dream. That his right-wing extremist thoughts will take root in as many people's brains as possible. He has also produced a Tesla electric car. Department of Government Efficiency

Department of Government Efficiency

Department of Government Efficiency (DOGE) is a proposed presidential advisory commission in the United States. The title is the popularly used moniker of the concept and does not currently represent the official name of the commission. It is tasked with restructuring the federal government of the United States and removing regulations in order to reduce expenditures and increase government efficiency. Despite the name, DOGE is not planned to be a federal executive department, the creation of which would require the approval of the U.S. Congress.

The committee was announced by Donald Trump, the president-elect, in preparation for his second term as U.S. president. It will be led by the businessmen Elon Musk and Vivek Ramaswamy.

The idea of DOGE has been linked to Trump's campaign promises to cut federal spending and reduce the size of government and the size of the federal fiscal deficit.
The concept of DOGE emerged in a discussion between Elon Musk and Donald Trump, where Musk floated the idea of a department for streamlining government efficiency.

Department of Government Efficiency

In August 2024, Trump said at a campaign event that, if he were elected, he would be open to giving Musk an advisory role. In response, Musk wrote a post on X saying "I am willing to serve", along with an AI-created image of him standing in front of a lectern marked "Department of Government Efficiency". The commission's acronym DOGE has been described as referencing dogecoin, a cryptocurrency that Musk promotes. Later, the suggestion was made by Trump of establishing such a department and for it to be headed by Musk.

Musk has suggested that the commission could help to cut the U.S. federal budget by up to US$2 trillion through measures such as reducing waste, abolishing redundant agencies, and downsizing the federal workforce. Ramaswamy also stated that DOGE may eliminate entire federal agencies and reduce the number of federal employees by as much as 75%. DOGE may attempt to do this through re-enacting Schedule. Musk has also proposed consolidating the number of federal agencies from more than 400 to fewer than 100.

Musk has described deregulation as the only path to the SpaceX Mars colonization program, and promised he will "get the government off people's back and out of their pocket“
This commission is similar to attempts before it, including president Theodore Roosevelt's Keep Commission, president Ronald Reagan's appointment of J. Peter Grace to lead the Grace Commission, and vice president Al Gore's National Partnership for Reinventing Government

Department of Government Efficiency

Despite its name, DOGE would not be a federal executive department, which would require an act of Congress to create, instead it will serve as an advisory body operating outside of government.[32] According to CBS News, it may operate under the Federal Advisory Committee Act.
Vox said that the body is "unlikely to have any regulatory teeth on its own, but there's little doubt that it can have influence on the incoming administration and how it will determine its budgets".

Donald Trump said the body would help to "dismantle government bureaucracy, slash excess regulations, cut wasteful expenditures and restructure federal agencies". He also stated that Musk and Ramaswamy will work with the Office of Management and Budget to address what he called "massive waste and fraud" in government spending.

On November 27, 2024, Musk proposed eliminating the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau. On December 12, The Wall Street Journal reported that the Trump team and officials from DOGE had inquired about abolishing the FDIC. It also reported on several differing plans to combine and restructure the FDIC, OCC and Federal Reserve.

Department of Government Efficiency

United States Bureau of Efficiency

The United States Bureau of Efficiency was a bureau under the United States federal government from 1916 to 1933. The Woodrow Wilson administration established this bureau for creating efficiency ratings "for the classified service in the several executive departments in the District of Columbia". Prior to 1916, its efforts had been organized under the Division of Efficiency within the United States Civil Service Commission. The bureau was discontinued when Franklin D. Roosevelt assumed the presidency in 1933.

Parkinson's law

Parkinson's law can refer to either of two observations, published in 1955 by the naval historian C. Northcote Parkinson as an essay in The Economist:

"work expands so as to fill the time available for its completion", the number of workers within public administration, bureaucracy or officialdom tends to grow, regardless of the amount of work to be done. This was attributed mainly to two factors: that officials want subordinates, not rivals, and that officials make work for each other.
The first paragraph of the essay mentioned the first meaning above as a "commonplace observation", and the rest of the essay was devoted to the latter observation, terming it "Parkinson's Law".

James A. Garfield

The assassination of James A. Garfield happened in Washington, D.C., on July 2, 1881. Garfield was shot by Charles J. Guiteau at 9:30 a.m., less than four months into his term as the nation's 20th president. He died 11 weeks later on September 19, 1881, at the age of 49. Vice President Chester A. Arthur succeeded him as president. Garfield was scheduled to leave Washington on July 2, 1881, for his summer vacation. On that day, Guiteau lay in wait for the president at the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad station, on the southwest corner of present-day Sixth Street and Constitution Avenue NW, Washington, D.C.

in Greenland

Donald Trump's insanity is becoming increasingly clear. Already in 2015, several prominent psychologists warned about Donald Trump's mental health. Symptoms like paranoia and several other symptoms. The latest statement that he wants the US to take control of all of Greenland is almost a declaration of war against the EU, because Denmark has Greenland included in its land area and an attack on Greenland is an act of war against NATO and the EU at the same time. Donald Trump cannot be mentally healthy and neither can those who voted for him, the same way Germans voted for Hitler in 1933.

Trump's speech

Starting at 11:58, from behind a bulletproof shield, President Trump gave a speech, declaring that he would "never concede" the election, criticizing the media, and calling for Pence to overturn the election results. His speech contained many falsehoods and misrepresentations that inflamed the crowd. Trump did not call on his supporters to use violence or enter the Capitol, but his speech was filled with violent imagery. On social media, Trump was suggesting that his supporters had the power to prevent Biden from taking office. One of his tweets, posted on January 6, 2021, at 5:43 a.m., was "Get smart Republicans. FIGHT". The same afternoon, Pence released a letter to Congress, in which he said he could not challenge Biden's victory.

An image of Trump delivering his rally speech from behind a bulletproof shield was projected onto this screen at the rally

Although the initial plan for the rally called for people to remain at the Ellipse until the counting of electoral slates was complete, the White House said they should march to the Capitol, as Trump repeatedly urged during his speech. Trump called for his supporters to "walk down to the Capitol" to "cheer on our brave senators and congressmen and women and we're probably not going to be cheering so much for some of them". He told the crowd that he would be with them, but he ultimately did not go to the Capitol. As to counting Biden's electoral votes, Trump said, "We can't let that happen" and suggested Biden would be an "illegitimate president". Referring to the day of the elections, Trump said, "most people would stand there at 9:00 in the evening and say, 'I want to thank you very much,' and they go off to some other life, but I said, 'Something's wrong here. Something's really wrong. [It] can't have happened.' And we fight. We fight like Hell and if you don't fight like Hell, you're not going to have a country anymore".: 01:11:44 He said the protesters would be "going to the Capitol and we're going to try and give [Republicans] the kind of pride and boldness that they need to take back our country". Trump also said, "you'll never take back our country with weakness. You have to show strength and you have to be strong. We have come to demand that Congress do the right thing and only count the electors who have been lawfully slated.

Trump denounced Representative Liz Cheney, saying, "We've got to get rid of the weak Congresspeople, the ones that aren't any good, the Liz Cheneys of the world". He called upon his supporters to "fight much harder" against "bad people"; told the crowd that "you are allowed to go by very different rules*"; said that his supporters were "not going to take it any longer"*; framed the moment as the last stand; suggested that Pence and other Republican officials put themselves in danger by accepting Biden's victory; and told the crowd he would march with them to the Capitol (but was prevented from doing so by his security detail). In addition to the twenty times he used the term "fight", Trump once used the term "peacefully", saying, "I know that everyone here will soon be marching over to the Capitol building to peacefully and patriotically make your voices heard"

The Oath Keepers are an American far-right anti-government militia whose leaders have been convicted of violently opposing the government of the United States, including the transfer of presidential power as prescribed by the United States constitution. It was incorporated in 2009 by founder Elmer Stewart Rhodes, a lawyer and former paratrooper. In 2023, Rhodes was sentenced to 18 years for seditious conspiracy for his role in the attack, and another Oath Keepers leader, Kelly Meggs, was sentenced to 12 years for the same crime.

The SA played a central role within the Nazi Party until the summer of 1934, primarily by bringing Adolf Hitler to power and subsequently consolidating National Socialist rule.

Donald Trump

A Danger to The World

Donald Trump will take office as President of the United States. He has been trained by his father to be a racist. The real estate company that his father owned was criticized for treating tenants of color differently. Donald Trump had to travel with his father for a while and learn the tricks of the trade with tenants.

Donald Trump has since developed, according to close associates, and he is classified by his former chief of staff as being a FASCIST. It recently turned out that Donald Trump had delivered 33 outright lies in a debate. If you research his family's bravado, his grandfather had a pretty big lie that he spread for his own benefit.

It was not so good to come from Germany around the time of the First World War. The family and grandfather were from Germany and the city of Karlstadt. But grandfather made up that he was Swedish and raised in the city of Karlstad, which is located in the province of Värmland. The lie turned grandfather into a better business contact than an unreliable German, and in this case also a liar. Grandfather ran a brothel, among other things. When he died, he had built up a large fortune at the time, approximately 8 million USD. It was an easy start for the son not to be left with a lack of capital. So a real estate company was built up and when Donald Trump's alcoholic father died, the fortune was worth over 400 million USD. Donald Trump's story about how good he was at doing business has its origins in an already large fortune. H & M, the Swedish clothing company, was worth a fraction of today's value when the founder handed it over to the second generation, Stefan Persson. There was no problem opening new stores globally. The foundation was laid and Stefan Persson came to a fairly set table. The party could begin. Donald Trump was saved by banks when he had misinvested in hotels. Normally, the banks could just as easily have chosen not to extend the loans. The business results were poor.
Donald Trump could then have been a relatively poor former property owner.

Donald Trump has used lies to persuade others to believe in his ability to create a large fortune.The banks chose to support him, but the fact was that Donald Trump made lousy deals.His father's 400 million USD in surrendered value would have been gone if the banks had not chosen to extend the loans for the wrong investments that Donald Trump made. Donald Trump has managed to hide his test results during his time in college, and there is no evidence for his claim that he has a high IQ.

During a TV broadcast, Donald Trump failed a fairly simple mental calculation, which does not prove a high IQ.History shows examples of criminals who have become leaders. Donald Trump is the first criminal to win and take office as President of the United States.

Adolf Hitler participated in a failed coup d'état in the 1920s in Germany. He and his accomplices were imprisoned. Hitler was sentenced to 5 years in prison. But was released after about 9 months in prison. Until 1933, his Nazi Party was active and with means that were completely undemocratic. SA troops threatened voters and influenced the 1933 election.

The Nazi Party received 33.2% of the vote and he was allowed to become the supreme leader of Germany and already in 1933 the country had been transformed into a dictatorship. The consequences are extreme crimes against humanity and where selected groups from the own population and from other countries were killed. Extermination camps were created, children, the elderly and people of all ages were gassed. People were moved worse than cattle in railway cars to the said extermination camps. The USA has had presidents who participated in the extermination of the indigenous population.
One plan was to starve the population and Buffaloes were therefore shot. Compensation was given to hunters who participated in this slow but deadly plan. There are photos with entire hills of buffalo skulls.

Donald Trump's first term as president where he was declared the winner despite 2.8 million fewer votes and thanks to the regulations in the USA. No functioning democracy because there the one with the most votes wins. When losing the election to Joe Biden, Donald Trump spread a fabricated lie and about a stolen election. The fact was that it was a clear win for Joe Biden. Donald Trump's lie had the same effect as inciting parts of the population.

The similarities with the Nazis' lies in 1933 are there. Over 33% believed everything that was trumpeted. The Jews were the ones to blame. They deceived people and that they were less worthy citizens. Racism and lies. The Nazis exterminated between 6 and 7 million Jews. The Nazis began exterminating children with various disabilities and also people with mental illness early on. They started by driving those they were going to kill in trucks with a tight space and where the truck's exhaust was led into said space, which killed everyone in that space.

Donald Trump has selected citizens of certain countries as a designated threat to the United States. Over 8 million people may be in the United States without the legal right to do so. A large proportion work and pay taxes and the nature of the work may be classified as jobs that few Americans had applied for. Cleaning, washing dishes, gardening, dangerous environments, to name a few. Donald Trump wants to deport all of the aforementioned designated people. It would have affected the American economy.

There are consequences to trying to recruit Americans to the same professions as those performed by the undocumented immigrants. Britain left the EU and one reason was the influx of cheap labor from Europe into the country. The result of Brexit has been a lowered standard of living in Britain. Of course, it would be the same in Donald Trump's plan. He has not fully understood the consequences. But they are easy to study and from the total fiasco for Britain.

Donald Trump is probably a significant threat to both the United States and the rest of the world. This is nothing new. Several prominent psychologists and psychoanalysts warned in book form about Donald Trump. They mention a number of different conditions that make him unsuitable as a leader.

History shows how unsuitable leaders still come to power. Josef Stalin is estimated to have caused 22 million deaths. Mao in China is estimated to have caused 60-70 million deaths. Leopold II of Belgium is believed to have caused 7 million deaths. According to researcher Rummel, at least 362 million people were killed in the years 1900-1999 and by governments. A full 75% of these deaths were due to governments that were ruled as dictatorships.

Donald Trump has no direct enthusiasm for democratic principles. There is clear evidence of this. He admires some current authoritarian leaders and he has joked (untastefully) that he would like to be a dictator for a day. (Who with Democratic and high-respecting principles would joke like that?)

Donald Trump does not have SA troops like in Germany in 1933, but there were some who were able to seek entry there. They stormed the stronghold of Democracy (Capitol) and only for their role model Donald Trump.

Nazis did everything for the incompetent Corporal Adolf Hitler. It is not difficult to deceive parts of a population and 33% is documented. Born 1850 - 1913 a shameful generation (33% of those who voted).Depending on how the years 2025 - 2029 develop for the World, the result can be noted.

Donald Trump's share of measurable results will be noted. There is a great risk that the list contains both deaths and also a worsening economy in the World. High tariffs have always lowered economic growth. Donald Trump has missed it completely.

President Trump does not speak languages other than English. He has prevented the release of his test results from the training period. Rumor has it that a test around his time at the Military Academy showed a low 73. But no credible test is public and therefore the public does not know what his IQ level is. On TV it has been shown that he couldn't figure out 17 times 6 in his head.

The mistakes of the American people in 2024 it was also made in 1933 in Germany

The American people seem to resemble the German people in 1933. In Germany they elected a criminal who participated in a coup d'état in 1923 and he was sentenced to five years in prison, but was released within a year. His party was for violence, murder, racism and dictatorship. Hitler received more than 33% of the votes of the German people. Then he got power and in 1933 he had steered Germany towards a disaster and also the World. Number of dead approximately 60 million. Persecution and killing of Jews, the disabled, dissidents, political opponents. The Storming of the Capitol was a riot that took place on January 6, 2021 in Washington, D.C. in the United States, when supporters of the then sitting US President Donald Trump stormed the US Congress building. Hitler arranged for the German Reichstag to be burned down and they had a ready-made scapegoat to blame. Democracy was also burnt to ashes. Donald Trump's chief of staff has stated that Donald Trump can be classified as a Fascist. The question is why the American people are close to repeating the same disastrous choice that the German people made in 1933?

Compare Hitler's and Trump's path to power

The election liquidated what was left of Weimar democracy and reduced the Reichstag to a mere stage for Hitler's speeches. It only met sporadically until the end of World War II, held no debates and enacted only a few laws, while the Reichsrat was abolished in February 1934 by the Law on the Abolition of the Reichsrat.

Deaths directly caused by the war (including military and civilian fatalities) are estimated at 50–56 million, with an additional estimated 19–28 million deaths from war-related disease and famine.

TRUMMP

From Drumpf to Trump

Donald Trump's paternal ancestry is traceable to Bobenheim am Berg, a village in the Palatinate, Germany, in the 18th century. Johann Trump, born in Bobenheim in 1789, moved to the nearby village of Kallstadt where his grandson, Friedrich Trump, the grandfather of Donald Trump, was born in 1869. This German heritage was long concealed by Donald Trump's father, Fred Trump,

According to the local phone book, there are 10 or 12 Trumps located just outside of Kallstadt. But no one in the rural wine region is interested in talking about the American presidential race.

His grandfather didn't use the name Drumpf. Although that had been the originally spelling of the family's name, it had already been changed during the reign of Napoleon around the turn of the 19th century, according to the transportation association in Kallstadt.

In an alternate timeline, Friderich Trump, a man with ambitions and a knack for business, decided to face the consequences of his actions in Germany. After serving a brief jail sentence for evading military service, he resolved to start anew. With a steely determination, he moved to Munich, a city ripe with opportunity and brewing with political ferment.

What would have happened if Donald Trump's grandfather Friderich had stayed in Germany?

Frederick Christ Trump (October 11, 1905 – June 25, 1999) was an American businessman and philanthropist. He was a prominent real-estate developer in New York City. He was the father of Donald Trump, the 45th president of the United States, and Maryanne Trump Barry, a former United States Court of Appeals judge.

In partnership with his mother Elizabeth Christ Trump, he began a career in home construction and sales. The real estate development company was incorporated as E. Trump & Son in 1927, and grew to build and manage single-family houses in Queens, barracks and garden apartments for U.S. Navy personnel near major shipyards along the East Coast, and more than 27,000 apartments in New York City.

A Legacy Altered

Ultimately, Friderich chose to distance himself from the NSDAP, realizing the destructive path they were on. He returned to his roots, focusing on his family and his business, striving to maintain the tavern as a place of community and joy, rather than one of political strife. His decision altered the course of his family's legacy, and the impact of that choice rippled through history in ways he could never have imagined.

The Night of the Long Knives , also called the Röhm purge or Operation Hummingbird (German: Unternehmen Kolibri), was a purge that took place in Nazi Germany from 30 June to 2 July 1934. Chancellor Adolf Hitler, urged on by Hermann Göring and Heinrich Himmler, ordered a series of political extrajudicial executions intended to consolidate his power and alleviate the concerns of the German military about the role of Ernst Röhm and the Sturmabteilung (SA), the Nazis' paramilitary organization, known colloquially as "Brownshirts". Nazi propaganda presented the murders as a preventive measure against an alleged imminent coup by the SA under Röhm – the so-called Röhm Putsch.

The primary instruments of Hitler's action, which carried out most of the killings, were the Schutzstaffel (SS) paramilitary force under Himmler and its Security Service (SD), and Gestapo (secret police) under Reinhard Heydrich. Göring's personal police battalion also took part in the killings. Many of those killed in the purge were leaders of the SA, the best-known being Röhm himself, the SA's chief of staff and one of Hitler's longtime supporters and allies. Leading members of the Strasserist faction of the Nazi Party, including its leader Gregor Strasser, were also killed, as were establishment conservatives and anti-Nazis, such as former Chancellor Kurt von Schleicher and Bavarian politician Gustav Ritter von Kahr, who had helped suppress Hitler's Munich Beer Hall Putsch in 1923. The murders of SA leaders were also intended to improve the image of the Hitler government with a German public that was increasingly critical of thuggish SA tactics. Hitler saw the independence of the SA and the penchant of its members for street violence as a direct threat to his newly gained political power. He also wanted to appease leaders of the Reichswehr, the German military, who feared and despised the SA as a potential rival, in particular because of Röhm's ambition to merge the army and the SA under his own leadership.

The Dangerous Case of Donald Trump
37 Psychiatrists and Mental Health Experts Assess a President - Updated and Expanded with New Essays
Author: Bandy X. Lee, M.D., M.Div., Organizer of Yale's "Duty to Warn" Conference
Authors argue that the President's mental health was affecting the mental health of the people of the United States and that he places the country at grave risk of involving it in a war, and of undermining democracy itself due to his dangerous pathology. The Dangerous Case of Donald Trump is a 2017 book edited by Bandy X. Lee, a forensic psychiatrist, containing essays from 27 psychiatrists, psychologists, and other mental health professionals describing the "clear and present danger" that US President Donald Trump's mental health poses to the "nation and individual well being".

Donald Trump will soon end up in the Bunker, the only question is which one?

A Danger

Donald Trump

Donald Trump was analyzed as a person, and by a large number of Psychoanalysts in 2015, and they wrote an open letter about it, and books came out. Trump was suspected of having multiple disorders and Paranoia and God complex. Conclusion in 2015, dangerous for the US if he were to become President.

The price for the United States and the rest of the world with the most dangerous President in power, as he is Donald Trump, has not yet been fully revealed. He probably has, among all Presidents, the worst condition to manage his office as it is intended.

Already during his first four years, he has shown an unprecedented incompetence and lack of knowledge and empathy. He has been revealed by witnesses to be uninterested in the security of the United States (Witnesses from Homeland Security officials). The lack of empathy is shown with the plan to separate the children from their families in immigration detention and from Mexico (the plan is against convention and creates suffering). California is a state where Donald Trump lacks support and revenge was an attempt to stop compensation for the large wildfires that ravaged (Homeland Security witnesses have recorded their testimony that was broadcast in 2024.)

No Sigmund, I have no mental problems whatsoever, neither delusions of grandeur, nor paranoia

I have promised to stop the war Vladimir! How much of Ukraine do you want? All or 50%?

The Beer Hall Putsch, also known as the Munich Putsch, was a failed coup d'état by Nazi Party (Nationalsozialistische Deutsche Arbeiterpartei or NSDAP) leader Adolf Hitler, Generalquartiermeister Erich Ludendorff and other Kampfbund leaders in Munich, Bavaria, on 8–9 November 1923, during the Weimar Republic. Approximately two thousand Nazis marched on the Feldherrnhalle, in the city centre, but were confronted by a police cordon, which resulted in the deaths of 15 Nazis, four police officers, and one bystander.

Same story. A completely unsuitable candidate involved in a coup attempt is considered by the people to be a good choice to lead the country. Out of mind! Election 2024. Same story as in Germany.
